Title of talk: Notes from an editor: inside publishing at Science

Presenter:

Michael Funk

Associated Editor, Science

American Association for the Advancement of Science

Description:

For over 130 years, Science Magazine has presented a weekly selection of the finest research across a wide spectrum of scientific disciplines. Our goal is to keep scientists around the world well-informed about important developments within and also beyond their own fields of research, and to encourage collaborative thinking. This talk will explain how the staff editors at Science engage with this global community at every level—from author, advisor, reviewer, to reader—to select and publish papers. We invite questions and hope to provide insight into what is often a mysterious process.
