

The background of the slide is a photograph of a modern, multi-story building with a courtyard. The building has a facade of dark wood and large windows. In the foreground, there is a pond with a wooden walkway and several young trees supported by stakes. The sky is blue with some white clouds.

Martin Kerschensteiner, Clinical Neuroimmunology:

Phagocytes in CNS inflammation: Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde?

Maria Robles, Medical Psychology:

Proteomics around the clock

Sigurd Braun, Physiological Chemistry:

Put the periphery into the focus: spatial control of silent chromatin

A large, semi-transparent green logo consisting of the letters 'B', 'M', and 'C' intertwined, positioned in the center of the slide.

BMC Science Seasons

May 20, 2019: 13:00 – 14:00 h      Small Lecture Hall, BMC